12,345 working at major firms

The fuel crisis is blamed for Quad-City area non-farm employment dropping to 12,345 in mid-January, compared to 12,991 a year earlier. The total last July was 13,125.

Drug robbery

An armed robber stole about $250 cash and an undetermined amount of drugs from Hub Drug, 1320 Nineteenth St., at 3:40 p.m. Saturday. Dorothy Wheeler, an employee, said the man entered and when she asked if he could help him, he placed a gun against her abdomen and told her to go into the back of the store. Two customers, Mrs. Fred Orr, 2430 Lynch Ave., and Arlene Browning, 1918 Fourth St., Madison, were ordered into the rear of the store and all were told to lie on the floor. The robber then told the pharmacist, John McDiernan of Belleville, to give him all the "Class A" drugs he had. McDiernan put the drugs in a bag and gave them to the gunman.

1,860 to 1,926, but men employees decreased from 11,131 to 10,419 during the past 12 months. Darrell D. Stites, Illinois State Employment Service manager here, reports.

"Most of the downturn in the past six months occurred in factories, although seasonal rollbacks due to adverse weather also resulted in layoffs at other establishments," Stites said, "particularly those involved in outdoor activities."

"It is anticipated that this trend will be short-lived, as employers have forecast strong recalls during the second quarter of the year."

"There were modest manpower reductions in lumberwood products, fabricated metals and food and kindred products. Somewhat diluting this decline were small recalls in chemicals and paper products."

"Strong demand for rolled steel and gray iron castings coupled with modest growth in food-kindred products, metals chemicals and paper over the past year have partially countered the decline in transportation equipment employment."

A check showed it had been stolen Saturday morning in Cahokia.

The robber and, police believe, an accomplice, apparently had another car waiting for them near State Street and the railroad tracks, evidence indicates.

The gunman was described as about six feet tall, thin, having straight collar-length red hair, and wearing a red and black checked shirt, black pants, a dark jacket and sunglasses.

Youngsters to seek 3,000 eggs at rink

A total of 3,000 candy eggs will be hidden amid straw in the Wilson Park Ice rink Saturday for preschool, kindergarten and first grade youngsters to find. The occasion is the annual Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Granite City Park District for children residing within the park district. Participation is free. Six prizes will be awarded in each age group to youngsters finding the largest number of eggs or the "golden" egg. Large chocolate rabbits and heavenly hash eggs will be presented the successful hunters, according to Mike Jesse, park recreation director.

Each child is required to bring his or her own container in which to collect the eggs. Jesse said. Parents will be asked to remain outside the rink enclosure during the hunt, he added. First graders will start the hunt at 9 a.m. Saturday, followed by kindergarten-age children at 10:15 a.m. and preschoolers at 11:30 a.m. Children may only compete in a single age group, parents are reminded. The traditional hunt was transferred to the indoor rink some years ago when inclement weather on several occasions created muddy conditions in Wilson Park.

Veteron scouts oppose moving office or council

The "core city" or "big city" syndrome cuts both ways, Quad-Cityans have found in regard to some of their charitable-aided programs and other issues. Just as some Quad-Cityans resent St. Louis dominance of the metropolitan region, they have found that people in some smaller communities resent Quad-City leadership.

An example is the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council, for which Granite City has been the longtime headquarters. A move currently is under way to consider office sites outside the Quad-Cities.

Some of those discussing moving the headquarters also were among those who actively sought to end the council's existence by merging it, cutting the number of on-the-scene professional executives from four to two and removing decision-making authority from the present council area to St. Louis or elsewhere.

Although there has been staunch resistance to repeated moves to end the Cahokia Mound Council's existence, the effort has been hampered by extensive changes in officers and committee chairmen and by revision of executive board membership, the body which recommends for or against merger.

One of the reasons the merger idea has recurred is that the concept of creating large councils is favored by some national Boy Scout officials.

Among the reasons why such a merger is opposed is awareness that Girl Scout council mergers in many areas, including the Quad-Cities, have convinced troop leaders that the result of far-away supervision is a less effective and substantive program.

Those against merger and also against moving the council office away from the Quad-Cities include veteran scouts like George T. Wilkins Sr., Henry D. Karandjeff and G. Rollin Henn and the Unihaw Boy Scout District chairman, Dr. Thomas Layloff.

Unihaw consists of the Quad-Cities. The Illinois District serves Collinsville and Edwardsville; the Kickapoo District includes the Highland area and Bond County.

In the hope that a new council building would be erected in Granite City, the late benefactor Carl Graham made a substantial contribution to the council.

Attempting to minimize concern over the possibility of an office move is the 1974 council president, E. Ray Grisham, who said last week he wants a current sustaining membership enrollment financial campaign to have the best possible chance of success. It was reported last week that headquarters outside the Quad-Cities are under active consideration by a special building committee whose chairman is one of the newer executive board members, Ralph Korte, Highland contractor.

The committee chairman said a Johnson Road building was inspected as a possible office site but that the committee opposes it. Korte was quoted as favoring a site near Interstate 270. The present office is at State Street and Niedringhaus Avenue.

Grisham takes exception to any "impression that the Scout Service Center was going to be moved to a site somewhere along I-270 between Illinois Routes 111 and 157."

He adds, "The facts of the building committee report are that they recommended to the board that the site on Johnson Road not be purchased at this time for obvious financial reasons."

"They also reported that they would further look into this building and other sites, where some ground might be donated to our council, and explore the possibility of building our own building on one of these sites, one of which happens to be some property located on the SIUE campus."

Two merger votes, both negative, have been taken. (Continued on Page 9)

Crash is fatal to Clarence Rongey

Clarence H. Rongey, 57, of 2801 Grand Ave., was killed at 12:15 a.m. Sunday in a one-car crash in which his vehicle overturned and caught fire near Salem, Mo.

The Missouri Highway Patrol at Springfield, Mo., said the vehicle which Mr. Rongey was driving—a 1971 model van—apparently went out of control on a curve, ran off the left side of the highway and overturned several times and caught fire. The accident occurred on Highway 17, 12½ miles southwest of Salem, troopers reported. The van was southbound when the accident occurred.

He had worked in the engineering department of Killark Electric Manufacturing Co., St. Louis, for 13 years. A lifelong resident of Granite City, he was a member of the Christian Church.

Mr. Rongey was a member of the Society of Diecasting Engineers, Foundrymen's Society, Masonic Lodge 853, Scottish Rite Bodies, and the Shrine of Springfield, Mo.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Albert Rongey, one son, Dr. Kenneth Rongey, stationed with the U.S. Navy at Camp Lejeune, N.C.; two brothers, Keller Rongey of Madison and Robert Rongey of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Bernice Douglas of St. Louis and Mrs. Billie Jean Burnett of Mitchell; one grandson Eric Rongey.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Auto tag sale opens April 15

Granite City auto license stickers will go on sale April 15 under a revised program in which senior citizens will pay only $1 for their license tags, and all other motorists will pay a $2.50 penalty if they fail to buy the licenses by May 15.

The license tags will be available at the office of City Clerk Robert Stevens after April 15 and, under the city's new fiscal year, will be displayed on the windshields of autos, trucks and other vehicles on May 1, beginning of the city's new fiscal year.

Under an ordinance enacted by the City Council three weeks ago, elderly persons 65 or older may purchase their auto tags for $1 if application is made by May 15. Senior citizen applicants must take their auto registration card and their driver's license to the city clerk's office to qualify for the reduced fee.

At the same time, the new ordinance provides a deadline of May 15 for purchase of auto tags by other motorists at the regular prices. After May 15, the regular price of the tags will increase $2.50 in categories. The regular price of wheel tax tags is $3 for passenger cars, $2 for motorcycles or motor bikes, from $2 to $25 for trucks, depending upon weight.

Court business is booming in Madison County and the Third Judicial Circuit, with the yearly volume of cases filed rising from 40,897 in calendar 1972 to 42,105 in 1973, a new analysis shows.

Circuit Clerk Willard V. Portell reports that while only 36,953 cases were terminated in 1972, increasing the backlog, the completions soared to 45,662 in the year ending Dec. 31, 1973. Heading the list of cases filed and terminated in 1973 were traffic violations, 21,967 and 21,924.

Next most numerous were small claims, 7,300 filed and 10,903 terminated; ordinance violations, 3,583 and 3,447; and misdemeanors, 2,838 and 2,717.

Divorces filed totaled 1,701 and there were 1,717 granted.

Law trials before judges included jury cases, 542 filed and 713 terminated, and non-jury, 263 and 153.

At the magistrate level, jury trials totaled 311 and 374 and non-jury cases numbered 521 in filings and 476 in terminations.

Miscellaneous remedies showed a 170 and 270 listing, chancery cases 231 and 270, eminent domain 82 and 98, mental health 351 and 403 and family cases 533 filed and 571 terminated.

A similar breakdown in remaining categories shows: juvenile, 442 and 404; felonies, 304 and 414; probate cases, 669 and 620; and conservation violations, 97 filed and 88 terminated.

Progress also has been made in the current calendar year, the circuit clerk told the Press-Record.

Portell commented, "It can be noted that in the law (jury) cases over $15,000, the figures are excellent in the termination of these cases."

"With another year like 1973, it will be possible to have a case in this category come to trial within 12 months."

"There is an increase in filings in the following categories:

"Divorce, where 1,717 cases were terminated and we remained current throughout the year; and juvenile, where there were over 100 more cases

Guards had no weapons

Investigation is continuing today in the $50,000 robbery of funds of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville by an armed man Thursday. It was disclosed Friday that the SIUE security officers were unarmed even though they are allowed to carry firearms when transferring money between the bank and university. The guards do not carry guns during routine patrol of the campus.

The gunman took $50,000 in small bills from an SIUE messenger at 10:32 a.m. as the messenger was leaving the Bank of Edwardsville accompanied by two SIUE security men.

Mrs. Donna Suhre, 30, from the university bursar's office, was in the front seat of a security car when the man approached the car, feigned illness and asked for assistance.

Security Officer Dave Johnson, 50, said the man scuffled with Ed Williams, 30, also a security officer, and displayed a handgun. During the scuffle, two money bags Williams was carrying fell to the ground.

Amvet officer sees Mid-East war first hand; visits Syrian POWs

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Greeting area Amvets in the comfortable confines of the Post 51 clubhouse in Granite City last week, Berg Avadanian recalled vividly that less than 18 hours earlier he had been standing in the Golan Heights on the border of Israel and Syria listening to exchange bursts of artillery fire.

Avadanian, national commander of Amvets, commented, "I actually went to war yesterday and, for the first time since World War II, I heard shelling."

"It brought everything very close to me... a realization that when people have something to fight for... they will fight hard and they will fight fast to defend their country."

The Amvets national officer traveled 9,000 miles to Granite City, having left Israel the previous day. While there, he had an interview with Prime Minister Golda Meir and met Moshe Dayan.

Because he concerned with all sides of the prisoner of war issue, Avadanian became the first American civilian to visit an Israeli prison where captured Syrian POWs are housed.

Although generally uncommunicative, Avadanian said, the prisoners appeared to have "high morale" and were "sharp looking soldiers." Upon learning the veterans' officer was an American, the Syrians formally welcomed him to the prison.

"I don't care what they say internationally, as far as condemning our government," Avadanian said. "When you as an individual say you are an American they warm right up to you."

He also mentioned speaking with Jordanian soldiers across the border.

Avadanian said he went to the Middle East, "because I wanted to get a few ideas from them."

"I wanted to know why it was relatively easy for the Israeli government to find a way to get public opinion... world public opinion... so strong for them that within a few months, against a very stubborn nation like Syria, they were able to get a list of their prisoners of war and those missing in action... when we... this great nation of ours... have put out a mediocre effort in behalf of 1,500 or so of our own men missing in action."

"I don't like the effort that America has placed in getting an accounting and I hope that something is done about this," Avadanian said.

"In defense of this country... in defense of its leaders... no matter how bad a government can be... how bad a reputation a Congress may have or how bad the judiciary... when you are in a foreign country... you defend it."

"Let no man insult our flag... let no man insult our president, our Congress or our judiciary, because it is our country and we are willing to fight for it."

Avadanian spoke informally on the amnesty issue, telling those gathered at Post 51 that his position remains the same as in his statement to Congress about three weeks ago.

The veterans' officer reminded the group that the position adopted at the Amvets national convention in St. Louis last year and voted at previous conventions clearly states, "That we do not subscribe to amnesty in any way, shape or form. It is a clear-cut position that we do not condone amnesty."

"That we would depend on the kindness of our courts, the judgment of our courts to treat each individual case in accordance with the laws of this land."

"We aren't going to condemn someone after he has received a real ridiculous sentence... we aren't going to condemn that," Avadanian said.

"But, we are going to condemn anybody that would condone a system of rewarding these people, and for our country to apologize to these men for having ourselves in a war that was so unpleasant we just can't do this."

"If the day ever comes when this country is involved in a conflict... God help us that it doesn't... you will never be able to draft anybody again, ever..." Avadanian said.

He briefly reviewed a tour of Jerusalem and noted that during a visit to the Nativity Church he joined with a group of Americans singing "Silent Night."

Avadanian said that Israel is "a very forward nation and also the living past. You see the modern Israel which they are fighting for today and they are going to win the war," he stated.

He paid tribute to Russell Dunham of Alton, winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor, who was a guest at the buffet supper and reception.

Avadanian, winner of the Silver Star and other decorations while a paratrooper in World War II, was twice wounded in action.

He dropped by parachute on D-Day in Normandy and three months later in the Netherlands. He also fought during the Battle of the Bulge, in the Ardennes and in the Belgium campaign into Germany.

Avadanian was joined here by Mrs. Dorothy Buzzard of Middletown, Md., national Amvets Auxiliary president; Mrs. Margie Winters, Illinois auxiliary president; Illinois Amvets Commander John Duller of Chicago and Tom McDonough of Chicago, national Amvets vice-commander, programs.

The entourage departed from Granite City for Springfield and a press conference and meeting with Illinois Gov. Dan Walker and state legislators.

Members of Madison Amvets Post 204 and National Amvets Bugler Andy Sgroi of St. Louis were among the special guests introduced.

Adam Petras, commander of Post 51 and Division 5, served as master of ceremonies and Mrs. Charlotte Damal, Auxiliary Unit 51 and 5th Division president, presented mementos to the visiting auxiliary officers.

Ban on citizen's band radios on river boats

Citizen's Band radio equipment is useless for reaching the Coast Guard for help in an emergency, the chief of the Second Coast Guard District's Communications Branch has advised recreational boaters.

"Several articles have come to our attention which encourage boaters to install relatively inexpensive five watt (input) Citizen's Band radio equipment on small boats for use in an emergency," said Lieut. Dan Silva, who is responsible for Coast Guard communications facilities across the 22 states in the district. Headquarters are in St. Louis.

"Because it is so popular, citizen's radios can be found everywhere. And, for this reason, the channel, or channels, cluttered with communications from homes, offices, cars, trucks, etc.

"Trying to get a message for help through a CB channel would be, at best, difficult," Silva said.

To amplify his objection, Silva said, "It is imperative that the public in no way be led to believe that the Coast Guard supports Citizen's Band radio for marine safety purposes. In fact, the operation of citizen radio service equipment aboard Coast Guard operational units is strictly prohibited."

The Second Coast Guard District is rapidly completing the installation of a new VHF-FM communications system operating in the maritime frequency band which should provide radio coverage over every mile of the 6,200-mile Western River system through 29 strategically located remote sites. July 1 is the target date for its completion.

"The Coast Guard will monitor VHF-FM Channel 16 (156.8 megahertz) for distress calls," Silva said. "Pleasure craft are not required to carry a radio, but if they do, it should operate in the VHF-FM maritime band for quick contact with the Coast Guard."

The Communications Center at the Coast Guard Rescue Coordination Center in St. Louis, has a radioman monitoring Channel 16 on a 24-hour basis.

Other stations located at Leavenworth, Kan., Owensboro, Ky., Paris Landing and Memphis, Tenn., monitor Channel 16 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. daily.

The five Coast Guard stations will be able to maintain a direct radio contact with vessels along the river system through a network of telephone lines connecting the remote sites with the control points. The Coast Guard stations on the various rivers are in turn linked by telephone and teletype networks.

Additionally, in some areas, Coast Guard Auxiliaries maintain listening watches on the distress channel to further strengthen the regular Coast Guard communication capability. These civilians operate their own equipment at their own expense to help provide safety on the rivers.

Silva suggests that mariners include Channel 22 (157.1 mHz) on their equipment. This frequency has recently been designated as the non-government liaison channel for conversing with the Coast Guard.

Contact is made with a preliminary call on Channel 16 and then shifted to Channel 22 or another working channel. Channel 22 will also be used by the Coast Guard to make urgent, safety and scheduled marine information broadcasts in the near future.

"Prior to getting under way, boaters should ensure their radio is working properly," Silva told the recreational boaters. "If necessary, a call to the Coast Guard can be made on Channel 16, and then the caller will be shifted to a working frequency to assure the proper operation of the equipment."

"For information or assistance, other than distress, call the Coast Guard on Channel

16. The station answering will have you shift to a common working frequency in order to keep the emergency channel clear," Silva said.

"Calling and distress frequencies must be kept free from unnecessary chatter if they are to serve their purpose as a lifesaving aid."

The Coast Guard says that boaters should use the distress signal, "Mayday," only when grave and imminent danger threatens the vessel and immediate help is required.

"After contact is made, the boater should give his location, his trouble, the kind of assistance required, the number of persons on board, tell of any injuries and describe the boat and the survival gear on board."

Persons interested in obtaining further information on marine communications may contact the Second Coast Guard District, 1520 Market St., St. Louis, Mo. 63103.

Car sales tax refunds still tied up in court

Kiwanis hears 'Babe' Champion

School athletic programs are designed to develop a student's mind and attitude. Granite City High School South Baseball Coach Conrad "Babe" Champion told the Thursday morning Kiwanis club at its meeting in Charlie's Restaurant.

According to Champion, winning is secondary to the athletic programs, and recognition, regardless of the athlete's age and ability, stimulates interest in the sport. Champion has been with the local school district since 1965 and has been coaching 10 years. He also is commissioner for the eight school Southwestern Conference where he assigns officials for all conference basketball and football games. Kiwanians B. J. Davis, Jack Darlington and Max Boyd were appointed to the nominating committee to nominate a slate of officers.

Despite the Illinois Supreme Court's decision to allow refunds on excess state sales taxes paid on vehicles purchased in late 1971, it may be many months before refunds can be issued, Robert H. Alphin said last week.

"There is a court injunction pending which continues to block our efforts to pay refunds to thousands of motorists who purchased cars or trucks in late 1971," the state revenue official said.

Plaintiffs in the case still have the right to request a rehearing before the Illinois Supreme Court or seek an appeal before the U. S. Supreme Court. If all appeals are exhausted and the Illinois Supreme Court decision still stands, the department will be able to request lifting of the present injunction and proceed to mail refunds to taxpayers who have already filed with the department.

"Taxpayers who have not filed for this refund are urged to retain a copy of their proof of payment and file as soon as a final decision has been made in this case," Alphin said.

He stressed that until the injunction is lifted, the department is bound by court order not to issue refunds. Those who purchased passenger cars between Aug. 16, 1971, and Dec. 10, 1971, and those who purchased light trucks between Sept. 23, 1971, and Dec. 10, 1971, would be eligible to apply for refunds.

"We are concerned that many individuals are under the impression that they are entitled to a full refund of the sales tax," Alphin said.

He cautioned those expecting refunds that the amount due them is based on the federal excise tax paid on the vehicle (specifically 5 per cent of that federal excise tax), and not on the selling price of the vehicle. For example, if a motorist paid $3,500 for a vehicle—$3,500 selling price plus $200 federal excise tax—the sales tax would be $175. His refund, however, would amount to 5 per cent of the federal excise tax or $10.

Alphin outlined the background of the case. On July 10, 1972, bills were signed into law to provide for direct refunds of sales tax paid on federal excise tax on certain new passenger cars and trucks.

Shortly after, a class action suit was filed in Cook County Circuit Court which attacked the bills as unconstitutional. The suit asked that the Department of Revenue be ordered not to enforce such laws.

The court issued a temporary order restraining the state from issuing refunds until the constitutionality of the law was determined. Subsequently, the Circuit Court of Cook County declared the law unconstitutional. The Supreme Court reversed that ruling in March 1974 and upheld the law's constitutionality.

Town meetings Tuesday

Electedors of the four Quad-City area townships will convene in annual town meetings tomorrow, but in only one of them will the people be given an opportunity to vote on 1974-75 budget proposals.

That will be in Venice Township where the annual town meeting is to be split into two phases, with the first session scheduled at 1:45 p.m. in the Venice City hall for action on the Venice Township road and bridge fund budget.

The second phase of the annual Venice meeting will be held at 3 p.m. in the Venice City Hall to act on the town fund and general assistance fund budgets.

Annual town meetings which still are required by law, but which no longer specify action by the voters on budget matters, will be held in night sessions in Granite City, Venice and Chouteau Townships.

Under new laws, the township boards of auditors now have the authority to approve the budgets at any time before June 1.

Venice town officials voluntarily have continued the practice of presenting the Venice budgets to action by the electors. Both the road and bridge fund and township budgets in Venice have been approved in public hearings.

Granite City town officials already have occurred, and these will be strong-hold anticipated rehires in food products, fabricated metals, lumber-wood products and construction.

The announced building of a new fire station, continuance of sewer projects, and the restructuring of the existing and repairing of Highway 203 also brightens the job outlook.

Richard S. McCulla, ISES manager at East St. Louis reports that in the Illinois section of the St. Louis metropolitan area the mid-January employment level exceeded that of a year ago by 1,800; manufacturing increased by 150 but other jobs rose 1,825.

"Suburban consumer demands for goods and services boosted employment in finance, insurance, real estate, non-professional services, construction and retail trade," McCulla said.

He released a study showing November 1973 non-agricultural employment of 82,408,000 in the U. S., up 3.9 per cent from November 1972; 4,114,700 in Illinois, up 1.7 per cent; 882,000 in the St. Louis standard metropolitan area, down 0.1 per cent; and 133,750 in the Illinois section of the St. Louis region, up 2.2 per cent.

With farm workers included, the total civilian work force in November was 89,884,000, up 3.4 per cent; 5,065,200 in Illinois, up 1.0 per cent; 1,005,500 in the St. Louis area, down 0.4 per cent; and 179,450 in Madison and St. Clair Counties, an increase of 0.8 per cent.

Unemployment is down from 8.9 per cent nationally, 3.8 to 3.4 per cent in Illinois and 4.0 to 4.5 per cent in the region, but up from 5.3 to 6.5 per cent in the Illinois section of the St. Louis area, based on the November 1973 comparison.

will hold only one meeting—at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the council chambers at City Hall. In the past when the electors acted on the budgets, a public hearing preceded the town meeting. There will be no public hearing this year. The Granite City budget is expected to be presented for public posting in the Tuesday session, with board action following at a later date.

Nameoki electors will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Nameoki town offices, 4250 Highway 162, while Chouteau is to hold its town meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Sun 'n' Fun at Mitchell. No budget action is scheduled at either of these meetings.

Chouteau and Nameoki townships have not yet completed their 1974-75 budget projections for the town fund and general assistance fund, but officials have approved new road and bridge appropriations.

Chouteau electors, however, will vote on a proposition to establish a special permanent road tax of 16.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. If approved, the tax would remain effective for five years.

filed than in 1972. "There was a drop in small claims, due to less filings in the delinquent tax department."

"There was an increase of over 10,000 cases in the traffic violation division. This was due mainly to an increase in personnel in the sheriff's office and police departments."

"There also were large numbers of state police traffic charges, because during the year 1972 quite a few of the state police were called for protective duty at schools in East St. Louis and Madison; this took quite a few of the force off the highways."

"There was a decrease in ordinance violations and misdemeanors, and the felonies remained quite low."

"This was due to the increased number of police and the effectiveness of the state's attorney's office of Madison County."

"The increased number of terminations over filings in 1973 was due mainly to the change of procedure by Chief Judge Fred F. Schuman, especially in the larger cases of over $15,000 and in the criminal category."

"Also, the appointment of Judge D. Kent Trow as chief associate judge by Judge Schuman, who used the same procedure as outlined by Judge Schuman, was an attributable factor."

"We feel the overall report for 1973 is excellent, and during a recent trip to Springfield, the Supreme Court administrator, Roy Gulley, praised Madison County for its efficiency in the disposition of cases. We in the courts hope to keep this pace up for the year 1974."

Propose to limit even-year Assembly sessions

State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon and State Senators John Conolly, Phil Rock and Ed Sours announced Friday that a resolution was introduced in the General Assembly to restrict even-numbered year legislative sessions to appropriation and revenue matters.

"The legislature is getting bogged down in a political quagmire every year there is a state election," the four said. "There is no reason at all why even-numbered year legislative sessions should not be restricted solely to state money matters with a maximum duration of 90 days."

"The cost of state government in Illinois has been rising over the last five years in direct proportion to the amount of time the legislature is in session and it must stop," they contended.

"Let's give taxpayers a break and have the legislature stay at Conolly, Rock, Sours and Dixon said. "We can meet on 'off-years' to consider new laws and take care of the pressings."

At the last biennial legislative session in 1967, the state budget request was $3.7 billion, or $2.85 billion a year. The 1973 fiscal budget asks for $7.88 billion for one year.

"The quality of legislative work has improved in recent years—but certainly not commensurate with the cost," Conolly, Dixon, Sours and Rock said. "The longer the Legislature is in session, the more time it has to consider and approve schemes—and each of them has a price tag."

Arrest 2 after crash involving stolen car

Joseph Allen Thomason, 21, of 1700 Fifth St., Madison, and Derek Curtis Rea, 20, of St. Louis, were charged with theft after a stolen car was involved in an accident in the 1400 block of Fourth Street, Madison, at 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

Michael Poyner, Collinsville, was reporting his car stolen at the Madison Police Department, while police were recovering the auto and making the arrests.

Poyner said he had parked his car at Seventh Street and Madison Avenue to go into a liquor store and he saw the car being driven away.

Police tried to stop the car at Fourth Street and Madison venue but had to chase the vehicle to an alley near the 1400 block of Fourth Street where the driver jumped out, leaving Poyner's car in drive gear."

EPA agents review local air control facilities

Plans to expand the local staff of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board to include a full-time inspector and provide for services of an attorney on a part-time basis were among matters discussed here last week in a meeting between U.S. and Illinois Environmental Protection Agency representatives and Ted Macios and Larry Canada of the Granite City agency staff.

Representing the Federal EPA was David E. Hougland, program advisor, Region V. Jack Coblenz, manager of technical services, Division of Air Pollution Control, represented the Illinois EPA. Walter Franke of the Regional Collinsville office was unable to attend because of prior commitments.

The visit was made to review local program operations, including program goals, office staff, facilities and monitoring equipment, enforcement procedures, surveillance operations, monitoring operations, and public relations efforts.

The local agency is substantially funded by yearly federal maintenance grants. The agency's program is a significant part of the State of Illinois Air Quality "Implementation Plan," as a result of their local ambient air quality monitoring system, surveillance, and enforcement efforts. Goals and operations of the local agency are coordinated with the state agency to avoid duplication.

All aspects of the local agency's operations were discussed in detail. Coblenz was taken on a brief inspection tour of the Granite City monitoring systems. Specific areas of program improvement were suggested by the state and federal representatives. Also discussed were plans to expand the current local staff to include a full time inspector and provide for the services of an attorney on an "as required" basis. The local Air Pollution Board is now interviewing prospective applicants for the full-time position of air pollution engineer, which has been vacant since the resignation of Dr. Reid Sutton in February this year.

The review meeting terminated with a commitment of closer coordination and cooperation between the local agency, state agency and federal EPA.

Henke hurls 3 hitter for Trojan victory

Madison High School's baseball Trojans capitalized on seven of 12 enemy errors Thursday to outscore Central of St. Louis 7-3 at St. Louis.

Trojan Jon Henke went all the way in pitching a three hitter, struck out 11 and walked four. He allowed two runs in the first inning and one in the third.

Daryl Franklin, Steve McCunney, Henke, Cedric Wilson and Jerry Verba each collected one hit. Madison had five errors.

McCunney and Henke scored in the third inning. Wilson, Franklin, Emmett Timmons and Verba came home in the fourth, and Wilson scored again in the seventh. Central scored twice in the first inning and once in the third.

Trojan Coach Ron Davis noted, "Franklin provided the only home run of the game, and then lost it after failing to tag second base. He ended up with a triple after he returned to touch the missed bag."

Venice High School basketball fans may purchase tickets at $4.50 per person for Wednesday's athletic banquet, honoring the Red Devil players, today and tomorrow at the school superintendent's office. The 7:30 p.m. event is to be held at Augustine's Restaurant in Belleville.

Noise of the crowd may be the only roar at local speedway this year

With the announcement that auto racing interests and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) have formed a cooperative effort which could result in the sport being exempted from the state's noise-curing regulations, Harry Henderson, advisor to the Illinois Association for Motor Sports, gives this report:

"Residents around the state's auto tracks will be seeing changes with the beginning of this season—changes in mufflers, and other types of silencing. And changes in an effort to conserve energy. We'll be making a deliberate effort to get together with our neighbors."

Quad-City area racing buffs will be able to attest to changes being made here on Friday, April 19, when Tri-City Speedway joins 2,000 other racing plants in the United States in offering weekly auto racing programs.

Promoters Ed Bloom of Tri-City Speedway and Marshall Voet of Lake Hill Speedway at Valley Park, Mo., have formed the Gateway Auto Racing Association (GARA), which replaces the Central Auto Racing Association as the sanctioning body of late-model stock car and sportsman model racing at both tracks.

A spokesman for the association has explained, "Perhaps the biggest rule change to make racing more enjoyable for the spectators is that all cars must be equipped with exhaust silencers, thereby noticeably decreasing noise levels."

It is anyone's guess as to whether or not the absence of the high shrill of a perfectly tuned racing engine will affect the enjoyment of the sport. But Mrs. Rose Spalding, wife of last year's late-model track champion here, Wib Spalding, has formed her own opinion.

"We were not optimistic at first," said Mrs. Spalding, "but after we watched racing at Daytona Beach last month, we have to say that none of the excitement and thrill of a competitive race was lost."

"Wib feels now that many people will come more often and probably will bring their children with them."

One track at Peoria has been requiring mufflers on stock cars and attendance has risen, rather than diminished.

GARA has made major modifications at the speedway here to make races safer for both participants and spectators. Construction of a new and better retaining wall on the front straight-away is perhaps the most significant.

Last year, during the running of a mid-season championship race, an auto driven by Rusty Wallace climbed on top of the old wall and was prevented from entering the grandstand only by a steel fence, which virtually was ripped apart.

Now, it is nearly impossible for a racing vehicle to repeat that accident, since the new barrier is almost three feet high and 16 inches thick.

A steel guard rail lining the inside of the half-mile course has been removed for driver safety and to provide spectators with a better view of events.

"All these changes were made," said the association's spokesman, "in the hope that racing fans will find this season the best ever."

To date, GARA has registered more than 40 late model stock car entries and anticipates an additional 20 entries. Drivers will compete for a proposed season total of $100,000 in prize money.

At a press conference in Chicago, announcement was made that a committee composed of representatives of the IEPA and the auto racing industry has been formed to study means of sound reduction.

Henderson added, "Just like some industries found the energy crisis a blessing in disguise, maybe auto racing can now better itself in this situation."

And, who knows, maybe now the pit crews and fans can hear the announcer when the qualifying times of cars and drivers emerge from the loudspeakers.

200 fans honor Steeler cagers

More than 200 Steeler basketball fans attended Granite City High School's first sports banquet, last week, honoring the new school's freshmen, sophomore and varsity players.

Cage mentor Bill Ohlendorf, the guest speaker, commended the 34 athletes on their first-year efforts, particularly the varsity squad's 14-11 season record, which included a 62-61 victory over Mater Dei of Breese, the fourth-place team in this year's state Class AA tournament.

Prior to presenting school letter awards to the young players, Ohlendorf cited two cagers for outstanding performance during the season—Dave Schnefke as the team's most valuable player and Gene Logas as the best defensive player and who had the best free throw accuracy average, 88.

The 6-7 Schnefke, who scored 33 points to help North topple Mater Dei, was cited for his scoring average of 18.4 points per game and rebounds averaging 11 a game.

"Schnefke," Ohlendorf told the audience, "would be an asset to any college basketball team in the nation."

Final group of candidates for the Granite City School Board in voting on Saturday

CECIL E. WILLIAMS

Cecil E. Williams, 39, of 2429 Kilarney Drive, is running for a position on the Granite City Board of Education Saturday for the third year in succession.

A planner at the McDonnell-Douglas Corp., he formerly was a grocery clerk employed by the Tri City Grocery Co.

Williams was born in Granite City and is a lifelong local resident.

He attended local schools and graduated from Granite City High School in 1953. He is a member of Suburban Baptist Church.

Williams is president of the GCHS South Booster Club. He has managed in Little League baseball and coached in football.

He and his wife, Delene, have two sons, Dale, 17, and Michael, 14.

He has commented that "I would like to see people on the board with children still in school."

Regarding the current campaign in which three incumbents and six others are running for three board posts, Williams says, "I think we need a change in our school board."

NELSON E. HEDIGER

Nelson Edward Hediger, 2332 Zippel Ave., is one of nine candidates for the Granite City Board of Education in Saturday's election.

"A resident of Granite City all my life, I attended Nankin and Frohardt grade schools, Prather Junior High, Granite City Sr. High and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville," he relates.

"I am owner and manager of a local business, Lord Nelson's Men's Stores, and am very active in sports activities and vocal music at Granite City Sr. High."

"As a businessman dealing with the children of today, I feel I can relate to them better, and can come up with a logical solution and remedy to some of the problems your children are now facing."

"I feel we have the best school system in Illinois, but some times there are unnecessary expenses which I, as a resident, business owner and taxpayer, am very interested in deleting."

"As a representative for you, I will do my best to eliminate all these unnecessary expenditures and try to represent the people of Granite City to the best of my ability."

ALMEDA MARIE LAHR

Miss Almeda Marie Lahr, 25, of 330 Lenox Ave., Mitchell, Spanish instructor at the University of Missouri-St. Louis, is seeking election to the Granite City School Board on Saturday.

Graduating from Granite City High School in 1966, she studied at the University of Americas in Mexico and then traveled and studied in Spain.

She obtained a bachelor of arts degree in humanities in 1970 at SIUE and a master of arts degree in Spanish and Italian literature on 1972 at the University of Illinois-Champaign.

She is a candidate for the doctor philosophy degree in Hispanic language and literature this year at St. Louis University.

Miss Lahr was a foreign language assistant at SIUE 1966-69 and a student supervisor of the foreign language laboratory there in 1968-69.

A teaching assistant in Spanish and Italian at the University of Illinois in 1970-72, she later was a Head Start program aid and then teacher in Madison County in 1972-73.

From 1972 to 1974 she was a substitute teacher in the Granite City school system from pre-school through the 12th grade.

Honors and awards include the National Honor Society, Modern Music Masters, SIUE teacher scholarship and Dean's List.

"As you have invested in me, may I express gratitude, through volunteer service, to the taxpayers of Granite City, for your part in my education."

THOMAS "TOM" MIOFSKY

Thomas "Tom" Miosky, 28, of 3135 Colgate Place, is seeking a position on the Granite City School Board in the election Saturday, April 13.

Board terms are unsalaried and extend for three years. Three posts are to be filled and there are nine candidates.

Because there are two holdover members on the seven-member board who reside in the unincorporated area, residence within or outside city limits is not a factor in the 1974 election. As a result, it will not be specified on the ballot which addresses are in or out of municipal boundaries.

Miosky, who is unmarried, is a teacher of physiology at the Greenwood campus of Collinsville High School.

He also operates private schools in Madison and Belleville dealing with special learning problems.

A lifelong Granite Cityan, he attended Granite City schools, graduating from the present South High School. He is a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Miosky received a bachelor of science degree in biology and chemistry from St. Louis University and is presently completing work at SIUE on a master of science degree in education. He has a background in school law and school finance.

In 1970, Miosky worked in an experimental education project in Guatemala, Central America.

He comments, "I have been dedicated for the past five years to working to meet the educational needs of children of all ages."

"I believe it is time that people voice their opinions and concern for education and the educational system."

"In a time of expanding vocational opportunities, I can be responsible and obligated first to the children of our community and to all its citizens."

Seminar on environment

Nicholas Joost, a professor of English, will lead the seventh session of the University Seminar at Edwardsville Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the University Theater at SIUE.

The seminar's general topic is "Shaping the Environment." Joost will speak on "Primitivism Versus Technology."

Audrey Leah Akers, a presidential scholar for the seminar series, also will make a presentation.

Joost, who believes that ideas can change people and nations, will demonstrate how literary artists, painters and sculptors are showing the world that a return to the simple life is preferable to increased dependence on technology.

Miss Akers is expected to cite Ernest Hemingway as an example of an artist who rebelled against post-World War I America and expressed his disillusionment in his writings.

During the 1970s and the topic remains alive.

In the initial effort to place the local council into a large new entity including St. Louis and several councils in Southern Illinois, a strong emphasis was placed on financial objectives. Executive board members were criticized by other board members for not being generous enough or rich enough or both.

Budgeting has been increased, and spending exceeds the average expenditure per council. The number of councils, including St. Louis, is 10. Some of those who expect a new merger push say they perceive a tactic for forcing a merger by spending the council into bankruptcy.

Record contribution levels have been charged each year and extensive expenditures are authorized without regard to the actual receipts are at a considerably lower level, now and in past years, it is contended.

Fires damage buildings, cars

Granite City firemen answered alarms during the weekend which included two fires in which buildings were damaged and two for vehicle fires.

Fire at 1:10 p.m. Saturday caused about $1,000 damage to the Madison Aluminum Foundry, 18th and Benton streets, after a hot tar pot exploded. Firemen were on the scene about 30 minutes.

The fire followed a 10:25 a.m. Saturday fire at the home of Martin Glaspie, 1305 Kirkwood, in which children playing with matches were believed responsible for a fire in the apartment which caused $80 damage.

At 10:30 p.m. Saturday an inoperable pickup truck loaded with trash caught fire in the 2900 block of Denver Street and the flames were extinguished by firemen. The truck was owned by Howard Toler, Tremont.

The other vehicle fire was at 7 p.m. Friday when a gasoline line broke in the car of James Ambush, 1344 Edwardsville Road, in the parking lot of Tarpoff Packing Co., 1428 Edwardsville Road.

At 8:00 p.m. today, firemen were called to the Hi-Lite Station, 1335 Nineteenth St., when what appeared to be smoke was seen inside. Firemen reported the smoke actually was steam from a broken steam line. There was no fire.

Special meet on sewers

A special meeting of the Granite City Council will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the council chambers at City Hall to discuss what steps may be taken to meet the problem of repeated sanitary sewer breaks in the Nameoki area.

The meeting was called by Mayor Paul Schuler who said that a "suggested program" will be offered at the session by Dr. Robert Koepke, assistant professor of geology at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Dr. Koepke has made extensive studies of water tables and drainage problems in the area.

The high water table in the Nameoki area is believed to be the principal cause of a series of more than 25 sewer breaks, repair of which has cost the city $1,588,000 since July 1973.

Meanwhile the city's Community Resource Commission headed by C. E. Mathias has informed Mayor Schuler that the "Commission agrees that the city must seek a permanent solution to this (sewer break) problem."

In a communication to the City Council, the commission said:

"We believe the financial burden encountered on this sewer system during 1974 as well as previous years.

"We therefore recommend that the city consider contracting with an engineering firm which has all the possible expertise in the design and construction of sewer systems such as ours, to recommend to the city the most feasible corrective measures required."

Mayor Schuler said last week that he has asked the St. Louis engineering firm of Sverdrup & Parcel to give the city an estimate of cost for a survey that would recommend corrective measures.

Hooks talks on Exploring

Almost anything is possible in the new Explorer program, J. Richard Hooks, advisor of Post 104, told the Thursday noon meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club in the YMCA.

Hooks showed slides of the local post trip last summer to Mexico and Texas, explained how it was financed and reviewed what the Explorer program does to benefit young men.

Members of Post 104 are planning an extensive tour of Washington, D. C., in late August, according to Hooks.

Optimist William Monical was program chairman and introduced the speaker.

President Dave Fox reminded the group that next week they will participate in the Maundy Thursday luncheon at the First United Presbyterian Church. He also reminded the Optimists that workers for the April 28 pancake day at the Nameoki Recreation Center still are needed.

Traffic fatalities continue decline

Illinois traffic fatalities for the first quarter of 1974 showed a 24 per cent decrease compared to the same period last year, according to provisional reports of the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Illinois State Police.

During the first three months of this year, 358 deaths were recorded. For the same period in 1973, there were 469 traffic deaths on Illinois streets and highways.

Factors said to be contributing to this decrease include lower driving speeds on rural highways and generally fewer miles driven by motorists.

The March total for 1974 is 39 per cent below the same month last year with 94 fatalities (32 in Cook County and seven in Madison County) occurring as the result of 90 accidents. March of 1973 had 155 fatalities.

Single vehicle accidents claimed 57 lives in 57 accidents during March 1974. This total includes 19 pedestrians killed in 18 accidents, and two motorcyclists killed in two accidents. Thirty-two drivers or passengers were killed in 22 single motor vehicle accidents, and five drivers or passengers were killed in five railroad crossing accidents. There were no bicycle fatalities.

Multiple-vehicle accidents accounted for 37 deaths in 33 accidents. There was one accident between a motorcycle and a motor vehicle which claimed one life.

There were four multiple-fatality accidents, each with two deaths.

MR. AND MRS. DALE WAGGENER. They were married at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, 3025 National Ave. The bride is the former Miss Deborah J. Watkins, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Watkins, 2444 Terminal Ave.

Deborah Watkins becomes Mrs. Dale L. Waggener

Good Shepherd United Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Deborah J. Watkins and Dale Lewis Waggener at noon on March 9.

Tall vases of white and blue flowers interspersed with greenery adorned the altar. Branched candelabra holding burning blue tapers were placed at either side.

The Rev. Harvey Humes, pastor of Unity Chapel, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. David Watkins, 2444 Terminal Ave. The groom's parents are Mrs. Lois Arico, Old Alton Road, Granite City, and George Waggener of Hobart, Ind.

A reception for family and friends was given in the church fellowship hall after the service. Everett Steele presided at the organ and Mrs. Letta Lipka, soloist, sang "Sunrise, Sunset."

"More," "He" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding, the former Miss Watkins chose an ivory tulle gown made with a lavishly detailed ivory Venise lace bib-style yoke trimmed with blue insertion ribbon.

The bride was fitted and the long, full sleeves were tightly gathered at the wrists into lace cuffs. Her semi-straight skirt was encircled with double rows of Venise lace.

She wore a halo headpiece of Venise lace to secure a mantilla veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of white gladiolus and blue baby breath centered in a garland of greenery and ice blue satin streamers.

Miss Sue Hagnauer, maid of honor, was attired in a blue floral voile gown designed with long, full sleeves. The molded bodice was created with a high neckline and a self fabric band defining the natural waistline tucked at the back in a wide bow.

An extra wide gathered flounce accented the bouffant skirt. She wore a blue picture hat and held a colonial bouquet of white gladiolus centered with a cluster of blue gladiolus and blue baby breath edged in greenery.

Dennis Cripps attended the groom as best man. Alvin Koehler and Steven Watkins seated the guests.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School. Her husband was graduated in 1969 from the same school. They are now residing in Madison.

More fuel available, auto sales growing, Smith plant staff increasing

Congressman Melvin Price, one of the nation's top authorities in the field of energy, believes that the energy shortage will be felt to some degree in the United States until 1985. He recommends increased utilization of coal and nuclear power to speed up efforts to balance overall fuel needs and availability.

Meanwhile, the gasoline and oil outlook has improved slightly and there have been favorable signs regarding auto sales despite the 27.4 per cent sales drop experienced in the Jan. 1-March 31 period.

Hesitation over purchases of standard size and luxury size autos contributed to the sales drop, reducing quarterly General Motors car sales from 1,280,000 in early 1973 to 812,408 this year. But industrywide auto sales rose six per cent in March compared to February, and April may show even more of an upturn.

All of which helps to explain A.O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant layoffs here in January, and the decision to call back 160 production employees beginning today, bringing the active staff to a total of 630.

The Granite City plant had been operating so impressively that the unexpected Arab oil embargo seemed like an especially dirty trick from local residents' viewpoint, pulling the rug out from under an otherwise effective frame production team.

Maybe if many of us go out and buy a car utilizing a full frame—a tremendous asset to the safety and strength of a vehicle—even more of those laid off will be needed on the job in the near future.

Quad-Cityans ahead of St. Louisans in avoiding 'boiler room' charity

"Everything's up-to-date in... Granite City," as the slightly-amended song goes.

Long after this area caught on to the type of "boiler room" fund campaigns that loot a community of large slices of its charitable contributions, similar activities currently are being fought in St. Louis and St. Louis County by such groups as the Better Business Bureau.

In boiler room solicitations, staffs are hired to call and arrange for donations for supposedly worthy causes. Commissions sometimes are paid, and the claims of sponsorship and benefit often become extravagant, usually later denied if challenged.

A frequent gimmick is to key the drive to an entertainment attraction of dubious value, and to offer to pass along any purchased but unwanted tickets to handicapped, orphaned and needy children—without really arranging for such children to attend, or even finding out whether they want to attend.

As the BBB notes, "The public is not informed that a lion's share of the contributed dollar is going to fund-raising expenses such as the promoter, and that little is going to the organization or charity for which the appeal is made."

This is not to say that there are not many worthy causes which deserve and receive generous local support.

The key is the percentage that actually will go for the charitable cause, and whether claims about the percentage can be verified. "Boiler room" staffs' activities usually are arranged in such a way that there is no actual way the public can monitor what is raised and how it is used.

In any community, there are only so many dollars that the public can give. There are more than enough actual needs, and such funds must not be siphoned away by deceptive practices.

AT LEAST, HOOVER KNEW HOW TO RUN A DEPRESSION

Little 'privilege' at some mobile courts

To The Editor:

This concerns the Mobile Home Privilege Tax and the answer Gov. Walker had in last Monday's paper.

What concerns me is an area mobile court because of conditions that exist there.

Why should a resident of a mobile home pay taxes? The owner of the property pays taxes.

People living in apartments don't pay taxes; the landlord pays.

The Mobile Home Privilege tax at the court I refer to is a joke. Privileges he mentioned don't exist, especially when it comes to the sewage system.

There are two open cesspool areas without fencing or enclosures.

The last row of homes next to these areas has related problems in the back yards.

This system receives waste from 57 four-family apartments, 22 two-family apartments, a skating rink, laundry, two service stations, two office buildings, two commercial buildings, a car wash and swimming pool. The last two I mentioned are out of business but they are included.

I have written to everyone connected with the health department, senators, and environmental agency, but so far there hasn't been one thing done.

25 Years Ago Elect Davis as new mayor

APRIL 8, 1949

It was a beautiful day for an election, weatherwise, and from the standpoint of funeral director Leonard R. Davis, in his first bid for public office, he carried 12 of the 17 Granite City precincts and was elected mayor with 3,723 votes to 2,666 for Mayor Charles W. Moerlein, 2,301 for former Mayor E. B. Grantham and 456 for Alderman Charles T. Meyer. The record city election turnout was 9,329, or 64 per cent of the registered voters.

Fears schools will be patronage plum

To The Editor:

In a front page article, "School Vote Discussed by Officials," on April 1 it was stated that the incident was reported by a political opponent of Mayor Paul Schuler.

I am not writing as a political opponent of the mayor, but I am opposed to unity and city politicians getting involved in our school system, because at the present time we have one of the finer districts in the state.

It could become a political plum for patronage if many of the gentlemen that I am going to list have control of our board of education.

The people in attendance at the "bar-room" meeting were:

1. Donald Stucke, president of the School Board up for reelection and whose wife holds a secretarial position in our school system.
2. Russell Robinson, member of the East Side Levee District.
3. Nelson Hagmann, chairman of the County Board and Granite City Township supervisor.

4. Monroe Worthen, School Board member whose wife is Schuler's private secretary.

5. Bill Schooley, School Board attorney, also Namecki Township attorney, and has been backroom advisor in many political campaigns.

6. Ernie Ell-Granite City Spectator.

7. Paul Schuler—mayor of Granite City.

Our school budget is approximately $18,000,000 per year and subject to control by various politicians—if we let them.

Through controlling the School Board and its millions of dollars of tax money, they could get a lot of favors for themselves, relatives and friends.

The public had better take a look at some of the school districts that are controlled by politicians, such as Madison, Venice and East St. Louis, which has problems out of this world, along with being drained financially of the taxpayers' money.

Granite City is drained financially and financially bankrupt, but instead of our mayor going to Washington, D.C., as he has been saying he was going to do for the past few months to try to get additional federal aid, he has been attending backroom meetings trying to attain more money for the school system, using the taxpayers' money.

I feel the voting public should know the political powers supporting Mr. Stucke, and judge for themselves if they want this type of politics in our school system.

If you don't, please get out Saturday, April 13, and vote for the candidate of your choice who you feel will handle your tax dollars wisely.

The problem has been in the past, a very light vote in our school elections and the political powers can elect men of their choice. Remember, your school district receives 65 per cent of your property tax dollars.

Pleased by vote against apartments

To The Editor:

Reasoning to build apartments in a residential neighborhood was rejected by the Granite City aldermen by a vote of 10 to 3.

We as homeowners objected to the apartments being built. We banded together, worked hard and had faith that what we were fighting for was right. We so voiced our opinions.

We would like to personally thank the 10 aldermen who voted in our behalf—Frank Greenwald, Clyde Boyd, William Dallas, Everett Norheim, Emerald Daves, Steve Baschler, Walter Nor, Ronald Coleman, Gerald Farnley and Earl Baker.

Sometimes we begin to think the "voice of the people" is not heard, but we are grateful. We were heard.

When we had a complaint, "The Forum" aired our views; now we in return would like to thank "The Forum."

Act to halt slaughter of baby seals

To The Editor:

One again the slaughter of baby Harp seals is taking place on front ice off the coast of Canada. Estimates say that over 12,000 will meet a violent, inhumane death—an immoral atrocity and ecological madness.

We beautiful baby Harp seal is only a few days old—a trusting and gentle animal—when it is killed, leaving its mother and innocent, toward its murderer to mercilessly be killed.

This is done to satisfy the greed of rich businessmen and "fashion conscious" women. Brian Davies, director of the International Fund for Animal Welfare, wrote of the 1962 culls: "The first thing we saw as we left the government helicopter was a baby seal with a hunter's knife in its belly. It raised its head and looked at us, obviously alive and fully conscious as it was being skinned.

"The look of terror in the eyes of that mammal is still with me today. We saw the evident distress of the mother seals as they muzzled the warm carcasses of their dead babies."

How can any person buy a fur coat knowing the pain and agony suffered to obtain it?

We are fighting a wealthy and powerful industry. Yet, some success has been noted. The Canadian government passed laws to protect the baby seals in 1972.

Now the Norwegians are leading the slaughter.

I urge schools, civic groups, churches and every concerned individual to speak out in protest and to write letters.

There is strength in numbers—our voices can be heard. Many writers promise a boycott Norwegian exports and cancel trips to Norway.

The baby Harp seals cannot help themselves; we must save them.

Send letters or telegrams of protest to: U.S. Consul, Somerville, Norwegian Embassy, 3401 Massachusetts Ave., Washington, D.C. 20007.

Questions and contributions may be sent to: International Fund for Animal Welfare (U.S.A.), P.O. Box 9744-F, Cleveland, Ohio 44140.

Laws helping officials, not citizens

To The Editor:

It is a shame what is going on in the United States. We pride ourselves on being a free country. In our court system, everyone is supposed to be innocent until proven guilty. Over the past several years, too many people have lost the feeling of love for their fellow man.

It seems all that is necessary is for someone to make a statement against a person and he is immediately proven guilty of a crime, only on the basis of a caustic statement which was made.

Our three divisions of government—executive, judicial and legislative—have lost the identity given to them in the Constitution.

Each division was a "check and balance" on each other, completely separate of the other, making sure the other division did not overstep its authority.

Each division is supposed to act in behalf of this country and the people being served—country first, people second. As it presently is, too much stress is being made on the political angle—even in the judicial, which is supposed to be free of politics.

An immense overhaul is necessary to bring our government back to the people.

Who is to blame? No one but we, the people. We have been sitting back too long and letting the "guilty finger" at President Nixon, these congressmen are politically afraid of the final outcome.

Their political future will be determined by the final decision on the "impachment of the President," based on facts.

If the Congress should impeach the President on other than facts of guilt, as actually stipulated in the Constitution, a complete farce will have been made of our country.

Our whole judicial system is in jeopardy. If we continue to have our courts degraded by sitting back too long and letting the "guilty finger" at President Nixon, these congressmen are politically afraid of the final outcome.

It is really of concern to everyone who lives as a great nation in America, whenever we let proven criminals, in a court of law, go completely free on a legal technicality, and yet are ready to convict and impeach a President on mere statements.

Also, it seems their evidence is so flimsy against the President, they have to ask him for tapes which they hope against hope would give them the evidence they otherwise lack as factual evidence.

My comment is this. Either the House brings the impeachment charges forward immediately with their "non-factual" criminal charges or admit their political "back-passing" and get down to the business at hand—the domestic and foreign economic problems.

As I said before, this is an election year and the American people can have the last word—and must. Our senators and representatives had better take stock of their past action.

It has been confirmed from polls that their popularity is even lower than the President's. From this, I would say the American people are just about in the mood for complete change.

It is sure that any change would be a change for the better.

So now, all young, honest, energetic and patriotic lawyers and qualified persons make your move.

Give of yourself, putting new blood into our government and give the American people the type of government our forefathers meant for this country.

God bless America and may she live as a great nation for another 200 years.

Goal—clean coke process

(American Iron and Steel Institute)

Control of emissions from coke ovens remains one of the most troublesome environmental problems still facing the iron and steel industry.

"Millions of dollars and man-hours however, are being applied to improve coking processes."

Coke is the best fuel known for blast furnace ironmaking. More than 60 million tons are needed by steelmakers in the U.S. each year.

Nearly all coke made commercially in North America now originates in by-product ovens.

These are tall, long and narrow, and are arranged side by side in "batteries." Some batteries have as many as 100 individual ovens.

Three to five holes, or ports, in each oven's topside permit the gas to be "charged" to a special railway, called a larry.

Gas burning in flues in the walls between the ovens heats the air in an air-free atmosphere to about 2000 degrees F. The baking process usually takes 15 to 18 hours.

When the process is complete in any one oven, end-doors are removed and a ram at one end pushes the coke out the other into a railcar moving below the oven door.

Coke is then cooled by quenching with water.

Besides producing quality coke, by-product ovens collect gases and other by-products that are refined and processed into chemicals and allied products, such as tar, ammoniac, sulfate, benzene and naphthalene.

As a result, modern ovens are a major step forward, compared to the "beehive" ovens used in the early decades of the 20th Century—which released about a half-ton of gas into the air for every ton of coke produced.

Despite such progress, environmental problem areas remain.

(1) During charging, when the ports are opened to permit entry of the coal, some coke is discharged from the oven into the atmosphere.

(2) During pushing, the coke is discharged from the oven into the atmosphere.

Charging, cooling, itself, through leaky doors and ports. Charging coal into the oven is estimated to account for 60 to 70 per cent of the total emission problem of coke oven batteries.

Systems are being developed to equip larry cars with gas cleaning devices; to fit larrys with fixed exhaust ducts, which carry the emissions to stationary gas cleaning equipment; and to create a partial vacuum in the oven, so gases cannot escape to the atmosphere.

Closed, or sealed, charging is being tried.

The "smokeless charging" project, sponsored by the American Iron and Steel Institute in collaboration with the federal Environmental Protection Agency, a larry car was developed to fit closely into the roof ports and prevent moisture leakage during charging.

This system has been further refined and is employed on a recently completed installation.

Another closed approach is pipeline charging, which is being installed on two batteries now under construction.

Crushed coal is fed into a pre-heater, which drives off moisture. Steam pressure blows the coal through a pipeline into the ovens.

Though it reduces some problems of open charging, pipeline charging has its principal advantage in permitting the use of a wider variety of coal blends than is now practical.

Finally, emissions can be reduced by "staged charging."

Conceived some years ago, this approach uses a modified larry car, which carefully controls the sequence of flow of coal from the hoppers of the larry car.

The charging ports are opened and closed one at a time.

Clearance is maintained in the upper part of the oven to permit the greatest possible drafting of gases into collecting mains.

This development is considered the most promising approach for controlling emissions during charging.

During pushing, problems occur as the hot coke enters the atmosphere, releasing gases and dust.

Control developments include moveable hoods mounted on the batteries, which cover the area of falling coke being pushed.

Some hoods are equipped with their own cleaning equipment; others tie into fixed ducts, which exhaust the gases to stationary gas cleaning devices.

Stationary sheds built along the push side of the battery are also being used. They collect emissions not only during the push, but also from leaky doors during coking.

Both hoods and sheds cost emissions but this does not guarantee that emissions can be adequately contained or cleared to meet proposed emission standards.

Hoods mounted on the collecting car are another approach, and water sprays mounted on cars are under development.

Such system is being tested and developed near Chicago. The coke drops into a hooded charging car, as a hooded coke guide prevents most of the gases from escaping.

Inside the car, fog-sprays reduce the temperature, and flat water-sprays curtain the opening where the coke enters. When the push is completed, a third set of sprays finishes quenching the coke.

This system combines pushing and quenching.

Other such approaches have already largely eliminated problems associated with conventional quenching.

Complex arrangements of baffles inside quench towers are proving effective in removing particulates.

One recently completed coke battery has a continuous underground quenching system. Finally, emissions could be reduced through leaks in the end-doors and through the roof ports, during coking.

Besides finding ways to improve conventional coking procedures, research is also developing alternative methods of coke manufacture.

The coke produced is in pellet or briquette form, rather than the irregular chunks from by-product ovens.

One project, under way since 1967, spent $7 million in experimental work.

Construction has now begun on a 300-ton-per-day experimental pilot plant at a major steelmaking facility on the East Coast.

Coke will then be accumulated for thorough testing in blast furnace iron production.

The relative merits of full-scale blast furnace testing is expected to cost between $25 million and $30 million.

The new system of the new process will vastly reduce the possibilities of air pollution.

The assumption in all environmental approaches to cokemaking is that the blast furnace will continue to dominate in iron manufacture for the foreseeable future and will need coke.

Continued reliance of steelmakers in coal benefits not only the industry, but the nation as well.

More than 60 per cent of the steel industry's energy needs are filled by coal.

Nonetheless, technological developments are underway which may some day eliminate the need for coke—though that time is far into the future.

Processes are already available for the direct reduction of iron ore into pellets with 90 per cent iron content. These pellets can be used directly in steelmaking furnaces.

For the immediate future, though, the primary thrust of steelmakers is toward controlling emissions from by-product coke ovens; but there are obstacles ahead.

First, even where satisfactory technology exists, the problems cannot be solved overnight.

It can take 24 to 30 months per battery to install new technology.

Construction must also be scheduled so as not to remove so many facilities from service at one time that steelmaking is crippled by reduced coke production.

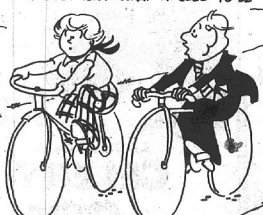

Second, in some cases, despite considerable industry efforts and progress, technology simply does not exist to solve the problems, at least to the degree specified by some government standards.

According to a recent study, the best that can be achieved in the control of coking emissions are "unlikely" even in the best case.

It might be much better for the environment, therefore, to accept existing technology as the best that can be achieved at the near term and to set a reasonable timetable for installing it.

In any case, the iron and steel industry will continue efforts to develop the most effective control technology for coking emissions, so that eventually cokemaking will have the high level of environmental quality which is achieved today in other steelmaking operations.

Joint Easter sunrise service

The Churches of Fairview Heights will hold their 12th annual Easter sunrise service from 6 to 7 a.m. on Easter Sunday at Lake View Memorial Gardens.

This is the first time in which the sun will actually rise during the service. Due to daylight saving time, the sun will rise at 6:27.

Special seating will be provided on benches beside Reiss Memorial Chapel and the sound system will permit people to listen even while seated in cars. In case of inclement weather, the chapel and its roof overhang provide protection.

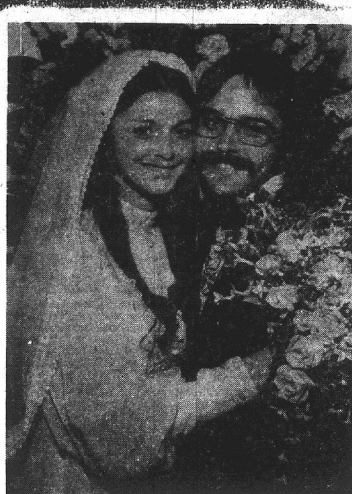

The Rev. Henry F. Redman, pastor of the Full Gospel Tabernacle, will bring the Easter message, "The Price of Resurrection."

The service will conclude with a trumpet presentation of "The Holy City" by Robert Kern and David Scrivner, with Eric Joelson accompanying them on the piano, and benediction by Darrell Clanton of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Laymen from the various churches will direct traffic and parking, and youth from the Full Gospel Tabernacle will serve as ushers.

The churches of Fairview Heights are working together to plan and provide the ecumenical service and report that large crowds have participated.

Lake View Memorial Gardens is located on Highway 150 one mile south of the Fairview Heights intersection.

Public Notice 34
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

1. Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by the Bi-State Development Agency at Kiel Auditorium, 1400 Market Street, St. Louis, Mo. at 7:30 P.M. on May 6, 1974 for the purpose of considering a project for which financial assistance is being sought from the Urban Development Corporation, a subsidiary of the Missouri State Administration, pursuant to the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended (entitled as follows:

A. Purchase of 240 new diesel transit buses and spare assemblies, two-way radios, station equipment, bus shelters and benches, pollution control devices, garage modernization and property improvement, office and shop equipment, fare collection equipment, automobiles and utility vehicles.

The project is to be used in the Bi-State Transit area, including the City of St. Louis, St. Louis and St. Charles Counties, in Missouri and in Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties in Illinois.

2. The project is estimated to cost $17,547,410.

3. A Federal Grant of 80 percent of the project cost ($14,037,928) is being requested. The local matching share of $3,509,482 is to be provided by the Bi-State capital funds and by the State of Illinois under the provisions of Public Act 77-153.

4. No persons, companies or businesses will be displaced by the project.

5. This project will have no adverse environmental effect upon the urban area.

6. This project is in compliance with comprehensive land use and transportation planning in this area, and is consistent with the Bi-State Development Agency's "Transit Development Program," adopted by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

7. Elderly and Handicapped. New vehicles (buses) will be equipped with appropriate stations and hand rails to aid the elderly and handicapped in their use of the bus system. Step 450 is to be provided for the specified. Fares for senior citizens riding the Bi-State Transit System during the off-peak hours were substantially reduced effective November 12, 1973 and ridership in the mid-day period has increased by percentages which have not substantially exceeded those of any other time of day. Much of this increase is attributable to more senior citizen ridership.

8. Many of the items contained in this application including an expansion of our bus shelter program will enable the transit system to continue to provide the essential service of mobility to many persons who are totally or largely dependent on it, including the elderly and handicapped.

9. At the hearing, which is being held in accordance with the requirements of the Urban Development Corporation Act of 1964, as amended, the Bi-State Development Agency will afford an opportunity for interested persons or organizations to be heard with respect to the social, economic and environmental aspects of the project. Interested parties may submit orally or in writing evidence and recommendations with respect to said project.

10. A copy of the application for a Federal Grant for the proposed project, together with an environmental analysis and the Transit Development Plan for the area, is currently available for public inspection at the office of the Bi-State Transit System, 3800 Park Ave., St. Louis, Missouri, 63110.
